Dispute Splits the Georgia Delegation

By NEIL GILBRIDE
Associated Press Writer
CHICAGO (AP)—Democratic National Convention officials forced a settlement today on two warring Georgia delegations in a racial-political fight that may freeze Gov. Lester Maddox, a presidential candidate, out of the convention.

Gov. Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey, Credentials Committee chairman, said Georgia's convention votes will be split between the rival delegations and that it would be "a miracle" if Maddox remains a delegate.

Hughes' committee, which also required that the divided delegation pledge itself to the party's presidential nominee, holds veto power over the final make-up of the Georgia state.

But the dispute may boil over into a bitter convention floor fight which party officials fear could rent their ranks and cost the Democrats either many Negro votes or the support of white Southerners in November.

Hughes said the decision was made on evidence that Negroes were not able to participate fully in Georgia party affairs, and that the state's national convention delegates were named by only two men, Maddox and state party chairman James Gray.

"The system is wrong," Hughes said of Georgia's manner of selecting delegates.

"We are not going to continue to have a party that systematically excludes Negroes, Mexican-Americans or other minority groups."

But he said there was also evidence that the regular Maddox delegation was at least partly representative of Democrats in the state.

The struggle pitted Maddox, who once offered white customers at his restaurant, against Negro legislator Julian Bond, who won his seat in the Georgia House only after a Supreme Court ruling.

Hughes declined to say whether he thought Bond would be named on the new Georgia delegation, to be composed of 21 members from each of the contesting slates plus the state's present committeemen and committeewomen.

Both sides had adamantly insisted on an all-or-nothing victory and Hughes said "There might be two dissenting reports" which would bring the battle to the floor when the national convention opens next week.

"We are pleased," said Bond. Lamar Sizemore, attorney for the Maddox delegation, declined comment.

In addition to the emotional racial issue, the case also involved the political struggle between the two chief contenders for the presidential nomination, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota.

McCarthy forces support Bond's challenging group, while Humphrey maintained a hands-off attitude publicly. Most of the Bond challengers are for McCarthy for the presidential nomination.

Joseph L. Rauh, chief credentials strategist for McCarthy, had threatened a floor fight but said after the forced settlement that plans were now uncertain.

Rep. Ben Brown, Negro Georgia legislator on Bond's slate, said he did not believe the Maddox camp would accept the settlement dictated by Hughes' committee.

"If they will work together, they will build a great new Democratic party in Georgia," Hughes said.

He said neither side agreed immediately to the decision, which he described as a "judgment" by the Credentials Committee and not a compromise.

The governor said the ruling, by 59-33 vote, was made in an attempt to achieve "justice based on principle without leaving the seats vacant for George."

still heard to his oft-stated pledge to travel anywhere any time if that would further the cause of peace.

Another presidential spokesman had no comment on Johnson's trip plans but referred to Christian's statement.

Having gone over the Czech developments and their impact on the international scene with the National Security Council and the cabinet, Johnson invited congressional leaders of both parties for a White House conference today.

Enlisted to brief the legislators were U.S. ambassador to Moscow Llewellyn Thompson, fresh from an Italian vacation, and Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford and Richard Helms, head of the Central Intelligence Agency.

It was understood that the Soviets had finally agreed to a specific time and place to begin the missile curb talks which Johnson had announced July 1 would begin in the nearest future.

Like Johnson's proposed travel, however, the timetable reportedly has been knocked askew by the Czech invasion.

The administration did get one bonus from the Czech crisis when Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana announced he no longer supported a U.S. troop withdrawal from Europe. Johnson has been trying to head off heavy Senate pressure for such a pullback.

Mansfield told newsmen that because of the invasion, "it appears to me that we have no choice but maintain our present position" in regard to troop strength in Europe.

meeting to 5 p.m. today. Malik told Ball the veto "will continue to afford, as long as the United Nations exists, the possibility for the Soviet Union to defend a just cause."

Malik indicated he would use it once more against the resolution. He said the sponsors wanted to "drag the secretary-general of the United Nations into the affairs of Socialist countries" but would "not succeed."

The resolution's sponsors were the same eight countries that sponsored the condemnation resolution—Brazil, Senegal, the United States, Britain, France, Canada, Denmark and Paraguay.

The last six had asked for the debate on Wednesday, the day after troops of the Soviet Union, East Germany, Poland, Hungary and Bulgaria entered Czechoslovakia, saying they sought to suppress counterrevolution.

Czechoslovak Delegate Jan Muzik told the council Thursday night that the occupation was "completely illegal," that its "immediate determination" was imperative and that Czechoslovakia's legally elected representative must be allowed to function "without illegal interference."

television appearance tonight to discuss the stepped-up enemy attacks that began last Sunday and shattered a two-month lull in the war.

Military spokesmen said that nearly 2,000 enemy soldiers had been killed in the week of fighting, while allied casualties were light.

Six attacks were reported in the Saigon area amidst reports that elements of two North Vietnamese divisions were on the move from Cambodian border base camps toward the capital.

Sources put some new units near Dau Tikong, 40 miles northwest of Saigon, where U.S. armored columns and North Vietnamese troops have been locked in a weeklong battle for control of a road over which enemy infiltrators must cross en route to the capital.

In stepped up efforts to blunt the thrusts, U.S. Air Force B52s pounded the rubber plantation area surrounding the Dau Tikong road with 300 tons of explosives.

Some 30 Stratofortresses launched missions against infiltration corridors between Saigon and enemy base camps.

The most serious situation appeared to be at the Green Beret Duc Lap Special Forces camp along the Cambodian border 130 miles northeast of Saigon.

Neither was injured but the father was charged with careless driving and the son was referred to juvenile authorities for improper parking.

Pope Hailed by Thousands in Colombia

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ
Associated Press Writer
BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Pope Paul VI was hailed as the Pope of hope by thousands of Colombians who watched with emotion as the pontiff kissed the soil when first setting foot in this part of the world.

Many wept Thursday as they witnessed this act of humility by the Pope and proclaimed it the crowning moment of his historic visit.

The pontiff journeys by helicopter today to a meeting with thousands of Latin-American peasants in a huge meadow, called San Jose Field, outside the village of Mosquera, 18 miles from Bogota.

His address is expected to be of far-reaching significance. The Catholic hierarchy is already on record stressing that the Church will take a more active role in the effort to help Latin America's impoverished millions.

The 70-year-old pontiff's welcome Thursday was described as the most tumultuous of his six trips abroad. Cries of "Viva El Papa!" resounded wherever he went in this Colombian capital. Some exclaimed: "He's truly a Pope of hope!"

The long day of papal activities, witnessed by hundreds of thousands of Colombian and foreign pilgrims, ended at 8 p.m. with the ordination of 161 priests and 41 deacons.

In a way, this ceremony underlined the Church's efforts to bolster its thinning ranks in Latin America. A source close to the Pope's party said many of the new priests were under the required minimum age of 24 years and had not fully completed their studies.

The deacons were the first to receive the lowest form of sacred orders which allow them to administer many sacraments but not Mass or hear confessions. Four of them are married. Their ordination allows priests to devote more time to other functions. The decline in religious vocations has adversely affected the Church's work in Latin America, Church sources said.

The ordination ceremony was part of the program of the 39th International Eucharistic Congress. It was held on the vast congress grounds in windy, chilly weather. Some in the crowd carried signs that said "Holy Father pray for Czechoslovakia."

Rockefeller and Crank to Debate

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller says he will debate Marion Crank if the Democratic gubernatorial nominee will sit down with him and determine the issues prior to the confrontation.

The two met Thursday at the Arkansas Broadcasters Association, their first meeting since Crank won the Democratic nomination Aug. 13.

Crank said topics to be discussed should include the financial condition of the state, penitentiary reform and the Welfare Department.

Rockefeller said those topics should be included along with the problems of education and industrial and agricultural growth.

Both agreed that the proposed debate should be held on radio and television.

Crank said he would continue to criticize the administration, much as he did during the primary campaign.

Crank made a reference to Rockefeller's frequent absences from the office which the governor defended.

"I believe the people will agree that we have done our best to serve them well and that our best is what they want more of," Rockefeller said.

Rockefeller noted that in 1966 he had said he would need two terms to develop his programs.

Crank responded by saying that good government is a continuing process.

"If we're to have good government 10 years from now, we must have action today, and that is what Marion Crank wants to give you," Crank said.

The Democratic nominee also said the party was more unified today than it had been in years.

Platform May Be Formed on the Floor

By EDMOND LEBRETON
Associated Press Writer
CHICAGO (AP)—The Democratic party platform probably will be hammered together on the floor of the convention itself by the more than 2,600 delegates—rather than by the 110-member platform committee.

This prospect—which could mean delay next week in nominating presidential and vice presidential candidates—became more real today as a determined minority of the platform committee insisted on what a spokesman called the strongest possible plank for an early end to the Vietnam war.

The dispute over Vietnam, which repeatedly has shouldered aside such concerns as social legislation to help the poor and alleviate urban problems, inspired two separate plank-drafting efforts.

One is by the official 21-member platform drafting subcommittee, which met into the night Thursday and resumes work today.

The other is by a group of about 25 members of the platform committee, who claim their ranks include supporters of all of the major candidates as well as uncommitted delegates, all bent on writing specific instruction for seeking a disengagement of the United States from Vietnam.

As few as 11 members of the platform committee by signing a minority report can force a floor debate and a vote between alternate platform provisions.

The deep division in the platform committee was dramatized Thursday by its reaction to an emotion-charged speech by Gov. John Connally of Texas.

Connally said such proposals as a bombing halt, a suspension of aggressive combat action by U.S. forces and a coalition government in South Vietnam would threaten a complete takeover by North Vietnam and its allies.

Then referring by name to Sens. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota and George S. McGovern of South Dakota, chief rivals of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey for the presidential nomination, Connally said it was "a sad and tragic experience to see presidential aspirants of the Democratic party try to equate our course of action in South Vietnam with what the Russians have done in Czechoslovakia, but that is precisely what they did."

"I would improve this committee to write a plank which supports the determined fight of the administration to preserve... freedom," Connally said. He got a standing burst of applause from most of the platform committee members.

Immediately after the session advocates of an early-peace plank gathered. Afterward, Theodore Sorensen, a long-time associate of the Kennedy family said: "The Democratic platform must have a strong peace plank, or regardless of the nominee we can forget about the election. So we will present to the convention, as a majority report if it can be, or a minority report if it must be, the strongest peace plank we can pull."

Sorensen said he is heading a group to draft such a plank for presentation to the platform committee tonight and that others will draw up an urban plank.

New Education Commission Proposed

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—E. L. Angell, executive director of the Commission on Coordination of Higher Educational Finance, said Thursday a bill would be introduced during the 1969 General Assembly creating a new commission with the power to reject programs proposed by the state-supported colleges and universities.

The current commission deals only with financial matters. He said the proposed commission would be able to establish the role of each institution and approve or disapprove any new academic program proposed by an institution.

Angell said the identity of each institution should be maintained, but that each institution must be considered as a "part of an over-all system" in the interest of better education.

Angell said the views of educational leaders were requested on the legislative proposal. About 40 educators and commission members met in Little Rock Thursday to discuss a report on higher education, prepared by several leading educators.

According to Angell the study indicates that the state "can no longer do business from a higher educational standpoint at the same old stand and in the same old way."

Angell said presidents of the colleges of state-supported schools, the presidents of community junior colleges at Helena and Fort Smith, and the presidents of three private institutions were present at the meeting.

Angell said the new concept would not limit the growth of any of the institutions.

He said the enrollment of college students in Arkansas had topped the 33,000 mark and that the figure would climb past 71,000 in 1970. He said there were 18,700 college students in the state when the present commission was established in 1961.

"Size of the institution is only one factor to consider," Angell said. "The need for new programs of instruction, development of viable graduate and research programs and needed new public service programs are basic to a quality educational system."

Regular Czechoslovak army troops, facing Soviet tank and airborne troops, guarded Svoboda in Prague Castle.

The congress delegates had been chosen for a meeting next month at which Dubcek had planned to purge the party Central Committee of hard-line foes of his reform program.

Plot to Kill Humphrey Investigated

CHICAGO (AP) — A federal grand jury opens an investigation today into an alleged plot to assassinate Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and two senators, and to disrupt next week's Democratic National Convention.

U.S. Atty. Thomas A. Foran said Thursday 16 subpoenas were issued for South Side gang members and some who took part in a peace march on the Pentagon last October.

The rumored assassination plot was to involve Humphrey, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, also a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, and Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., Foran said.

McClellan headed a Senate investigation into the activities of two South Side youth gangs recently which resulted in their losing a federal antipoverty grant.

The prosecutor said the report which originated in Cook County jail last week also involved "alleged planning by certain groups to cause civil disturbances" in the Chicago area during the convention and disrupt proceedings.

Shortly after the grand jury probe begins the first contingent of nearly 6,000 Illinois National Guardsmen arrive in Chicago to be used if needed to maintain order in the event of disturbances next week.

The remainder of the troops, requested by Mayor Richard J. Daley, will arrive at armories Saturday.

Gov. Samuel H. Shapiro ordered the troop callup after consulting with Daley, and in the face of threatened antiwar demonstrations around the International Amphitheatre, the convention site, and the downtown hotels where delegates and candidates were to be housed.

The troop mobilization was a supplement to a force of nearly 14,000 local police, federal agents and private guards who will be patrolling the convention.

Warren G. Harding was the first U.S. president to invite the vice-president to hold a seat in the presidential cabinet.

Wedding Vows Are Repeated

MRS. JOHN FRANCIS LESTER, JR.

The marriage of Miss Carol Bresler to John Francis Lester, Jr., was solemnized Friday evening, August 2, in The First Baptist Church of Broken, Bow, Oklahoma with the Reverend Delbert L. Garrett officiating.

The bride chose for her marriage a treebark knit suit in candlelight fashioned with a softened skirt and short Mao inspired jacket trimmed with gold buttons. In her hair she wore a small coil of candlelight knit.

Mrs. Lester is the daughter of Mrs. Hendrix Shirey of Hope and Doctor Robert E. Bresler, Sr., of Kansas City, Missouri. Mr. Lester's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Francis Lester, Sr., of Lewisville.

The couple have recently returned from a trip in Colorado and are now at home in the Hillcrest Apartments.

Travels" can and will ring in some really off-beat story lines. The earthlings in one show are attacked by an enormous cat; they are captured and imprisoned in a giant dollhouse; they escape from one dangerous situation by using a ruler as a gang plank. Captured in a giant's office, they are strapped down by strips of plastic mending tape, and threatened with a paper clip.

Allen says the new ABC series, which will be a Sunday evening show, "is the most expensive filmed program in the history of television," with each hour costing in excess of $250,000.

"We prepared for 17 months before it went to the cameras," he explained. "There were all sorts of complications to be ironed out. How do you adjust the sound when you have the little people talking to the big people? How do you make furniture when the scale is 12 times larger than life?"

The series, 17 episodes of which are completed, "must be a big hit to survive," he said. "It is so expensive that it has to attract the whole family," added the producer. "We know the kids will watch it and they will identify with the little people. Our job was to write stories that will attract the adults."

Bob Thomas at the Movies

By GENE HANDSAKER

Associated Press Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The green-eyed, scraggly haired little Frenchman spoke with gestures from the back seat of his agent's speeding limousine.

"I have played before prisoners condemned to death," said famed pantomimist Marcel Marceau. "I have played before deaf mutes, factory workers and sophisticated audiences."

"Yet everyone could understand, could join in the laughter or tears. Pantomime is the language of the heart."

After five U.S. tours, the tanned, spirited Marceau is here to speak—for the first time from an American state—Saturday and Sunday at the University of California at Los Angeles.

His two-part seminar-demonstration, previously presented only at the Sorbonne in Paris, traces the history of pantomime from ancient Greeks and Romans through European theaters to Chaplin and Skelton.

"Universally acknowledged as the world's greatest living pantomimist," as UCLA bills him, Marceau is having a crowded five days here: Lectures at Actors Studio-West... television talks with 20th Century-Fox... a 47-minute turn on a Joey Bishop show, enacting audience-suggested impressions like donning a corset in a high wind. An interview was sandwiched into a fast ride to Rowan & Martin's "Laugh-In" office, where Marceau agreed to a fall appearance.

"I'm a real gypsy," he remarked.

He is also: "In my early 40s and hope to be for 20 years."

—A father of two, separated from his wife.

—A butcher's son, who with childhood playmates imitated "flowers, stones, trees, Chaplin, Robinson Crusoe, Christ. We were mimes without style."

—Creator in 1947 of "Bip," his clown in striped sweater and flowered hat, defeated by both butterflies and lions.

A critic has said Marceau in an impression of youth, maturity, old age and death "accomplishes in less than two minutes what most novelists cannot do in volumes."

The secret, said Marceau, is "making people identify with yourself." Like a spectator vicariously becoming a boxer in the ring or a concertgoer "pretending for a moment in his bathroom that he is Caruso."

Audiences participate in his pantomime. "When I begin to play, they play with me."

Said Marceau: "Mime is the eternal language. The Greeks and Romans played as we play, and we are in the space age."

"I have performed in 55 countries. In a world confused, where there is violence, hate and despair, the art of pantomime helps bring people closer together."

"Through it you can bring light and love into this dark world."

Decline in Smoking, Report Says

By TOM STEWART

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — For only the second time since the 1964 surgeon general's report linked the use of tobacco to cancer and other diseases, there has been a decline in cigarette smoking, according to government statistics.

The Internal Revenue Service today released figures showing Americans smoked 543.5 billion cigarettes in the fiscal year that ended last June 30, compared with 545.1 in fiscal 1967.

Although the .28 per cent drop was tiny, the decline interrupted a steadily growing increase in the use of tobacco in the United States since the initial fall following the surgeon general's report four years ago.

While the earlier drop was clearly linked to the cancer scare, there was nothing in the IRS figures to indicate what caused the latest decline.

Dr. William Stewart, U.S. surgeon general, said, however, that he thinks "the message is finally getting around."

"It is a safe assumption," he said in an interview, "that the message is being heard."

Stewart added that there was some evidence of the downturn in studies done by his department earlier this year. But he said there were no immediate plans to delve deeper into the statistics and perhaps capitalize on them in the government's anti-smoking campaign.

A spokesman for the Tobacco Institute, the industry's lobbying and public relations arm, said the drop may not actually work in a cannery. At 10 he was fired from a $2-a-month farm job because the farmer thought he spent too much time watching birds and squirrels.

"I felt lower than a snake's belly when I had to go home and tell my mother," he recalled. "I vowed then I'd never loaf another day in my life."

Over the years young Harland was a plowman, painted buggies in Indianapolis, worked as a streetcar conductor, spent several years as a railroad fireman.

He also sold tires, insurance and acetylene farm lamps. At 40, after failing in the garage business, he opened a small filling station and restaurant in Corbin, Ky.

"I figured that people, no matter how bad times got, would always need food and gasoline," he said.

He experimented with fried chicken, developed his own seasoning recipe containing 11 kinds of herbs and spices. Business flourished, and he built a motel—"the first modern one east of the Mississippi."

But a new highway was built and bypassed his location. At 65 he was broke. Then he got the idea of going around the country selling his fried chicken formula. His financial springboard was his first Social Security check—for $105.

"My wife stayed home and made the seasoning, and I hit the road," he said. "I told the people who wanted my recipe they could have it for five cents a chicken. I left it up to them to figure what they owed me."

"People are honest if you trust them. I don't think anyone ever beat me out of a nickel."

Four years ago the colonel sold out his American rights to his product for $2 million. He since has sold his Canadian rights for another $2 million, which he gave to religious and charitable organizations. He also has helped pay for the upkeep of 254 foster children around the world, and given $370,000 for scholarships to students who agree to refrain from smoking.

"If they've got money to burn, they don't need mine to burn," he said.

The colonel hopes to live to be 100, and this is his philosophy: "Always keep working at something every day. No matter how feeble you feel, you're always got the strength to do something."

"Right now I'm thinking of starting a chain of restaurants specializing in country ham and eggs."

And if you don't think Sanders has a secret recipe for spicing country hams—well, you don't know Kentucky colonels.

mean Americans are smoking less.

Instead, he suggested the drop may have reflected a fall off in cigarette production in fiscal 1968 due to labor strikes.

Asked how the manufacturers feel about the antismoking commercials that are now a commonplace on radio and television, he said these messages are still an unknown quantity.

"The producers don't know how to measure their potency," he said. "They talk about them plenty, but they have no way as yet of determining their impact."

HELEN HELP US!

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!

This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help Us!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush off.

Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED FOR IT, care of Helen Help Us! in this newspaper.

THE TIME OF THE PEACOCK

Dear Helen: I don't blame the men's clothing industry for making a buck where they can, BUT—

Beads, and bells, and turtle-necks at formal parties? The exotic colognes and after shave lotions stridently fill the room, leaving the poor girls' delicate feminine scent hopelessly outwaded.

Now the latest word is handbags for boys. With seven pockets, the guy needs a purse? Can't you just see us picking up our purses and departing for our respective powder rooms? La de dahl!

I think I'll stay home and watch the old Bogart movies on TV.

Don't you think the guys are overdoing the peacock bit? —HAD IT WITH COPYCATS

Dear Had It: Not really. Most of the conservative critics think they're double-daring in a turtle-neck and two-inch sideburns. They won't adopt beads nearly so fast as we women took to front-zipped pants. And I think you'll find the same proportion of men carrying their own purses as you find women in see-through dresses, no underwear.

(If they go around together, it will eliminate one problem, won't it?) —H

P.S. I LIKE chain pendants and turtle-necks on men. Am I strange or something?

Dear Helen: This woman has three children. When she goes to church, she takes two of them with her and leaves the third behind to watch her husband.

He isn't the type to step out, being very henpecked, but she doesn't trust him alone. She raises sand if he slips away from the house. She figures if he lifts his hat to another woman he's planning a seduction.

The poor guy doesn't drink, smoke, chase or swear. What more does she want?—FEELING SORRY

Dear F.S.: She probably wants the type of man her husband isn't, so she imagines him all kinds of a rounder to help her self-esteem. It's pretty sad, you know, to admit you've got a guy nobody else wants. —H

Dear Helen: My two brothers and an uncle are compulsive rib ticklers and pokers. If they are behind you, watch out! You don't know if you'll get a finger jabbed in your side or a rib cage squeezed. These guys forget their strength. They hurt! It's all supposed to be in fun.

Ha, ha!

At a family gathering last week, I finally had it. I punched back, and told my uncle his squeeze wasn't appreciated.

Now I'm labeled the family villain. My sister thinks it was childish to hit a relative who was "having fun." But I have said "Please stop" so many times I'm tired of it, and without success.

Why is it "childish" to protect one's own ribs, but not childish to tickle? —My husband said the punch was long overdue. —T.B.T.

Dear T: I'm with you and your husband. Rib ticklers are overgrown boys who need a fast "reflex" punch in the solar plexus to show them how a jab can hurt. They won't hold your touchiness against you if your sister doesn't make a big thing out of it. —H

Dear Helen: What do you think of parents who are constantly asking their son, who has a very good job, a nice home and a family to support, to steal things they need from the company he works for?—W.S.O.

Dear W.: They are dishonest, grasping and foolish, and so is the son if he does what they wish. —H

Grant, Others Sue Warners

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Cary Grant, producer Norman Krasna and others are suing Warner Bros.-Seven Arts, Inc. for $750,000.

The suit, filed Tuesday in Los Angeles Superior Court, alleged Warner Bros. improperly sold television rights of the film "Indiscreet" for a price below its value to Seven Arts, Inc., in a package deal before the two firms merged.

Grant, Krasna, Stanley Donen, Granley Co., Stanley Donen Films, Inc., and Granley Productions said they were to have divided 75 per cent of these receipts of the film.

SURF SINGER is actress Erika Ruffael seen on the beach at Cannes, France.

First Full Scrimmage for Bobcats

By RALPH ROUNTON

Star Sports Writer

If plans go according to schedule, the Hope Bobcats should get in their first scrimmage in full pads today after about ten days of preparations.

Thus far not one starting Bobcat (of those who are now leading at their position) has been seriously injured, and no one at all has suffered anything worse than a cracked finger. Because of this continued good fortune, superstition will now allow it to be mentioned again.

After discussing the backfield in this column two days ago, we now turn to the line, which can go a very long way toward a winning season.

At ends are two returning lettermen, both of whom have several years experience at their spot. Senior Jim Singleton, the tallest Bobcat at 6'5", came fast at the end last year and should work well with David Still on the opposite side. David, a junior, will probably handle the punting chores this season.

One of the top tackles in the state is Carroll Beck, at 6'4" and 210. After injury-plagued seasons as a soph and junior, (he only played half of the first game in 1967) Beck will work hard to prove himself. Another tackle is junior Ronnie Brown, who was a defensive starter last year and does the kickoffs.

Hard-nosed Larry McWilliams, a linebacker on defense, will run from one guard slot, and versatile Mickey Allen joins David Jones at center. Add to this core a good crew of sophomores, and soon Hope should boast of a tough line two-deep.

Having that depth will be very important, as many Cats will be going both ways and will need periodic rests in order to give a peak performance, especially in the early, warmer weather. A tremendous asset, though, as the Bobcats strive to improve will be the coaching staff. Some have looked down on Hope's chances because of the young staff, but there is a good chance they will be eating their words come November. Head Coach Ronnie Higgins, although only in his third year of coaching, is a leader and has done a good job so far in injecting enthusiasm and pride into his team.

The coaching talent doesn't end there, either. Assistant Bill Lawrence gave Hope one of 4-AA's toughest pass defenses last year, and he is long on football knowledge. Now enter Assistant Jim Jordan, who was everyone's All-AIC quarterback at Ouachita in 1966 and is regarded as a taskmaster. Jordan will concentrate on the quarterbacks and receivers.

No former linemen have yet been mentioned, but hold your hat. Assistant Gaylord Solomon was All-AIC at guard and linebacker for Ouachita, and thus is well qualified to head up the linemen. Add Higgins' experience as a Little All-America fullback at Arkansas A&M, and you have probably the most balanced and well-spaced coaching staff in these parts.

This group has the roughest coaching job possible, in trying to regain a winning tradition in the tough 4-AA after three losing seasons capped by a 2-8-1 scoresheet last year. The desire is there, but the pride of a winning dynasty such as Crosssett has had is not merely instilled. It comes with the joyful experience of winning and knowing you can beat anyone around. This is the true goal for the Hope Bobcats for the 1968 season. If the pride and desire are there, winning football games will take care of itself. This morning Coach Higgins announced that the Bobcats would scrimmage under the lights at Hammond Stadium tonight and he invited the public to come out and get their first look at this year's squad.

Chargers Are Loaded Offensively

By RON ROACH

Associated Press Sports Writer
SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—A new defense outlook and a pair of sophomore running backs hold keys to 1968 success for the San Diego Chargers in the American Football League.

Halfback Dick Post and fullback Brad Hubbard are the young runners whom Coach Sid Gillman hopes will pick up where they finished their 1967 rookie years—ranking fourth and fifth among AFL rushers.

Gillman also lists these reasons why the Chargers should improve on their 1967 third-place standing in the Western Division:

"We have greater purpose, a finer attitude and a few more people to help. We've changed design and changed coaching. The people we have now just want to do it."

A Charger championship? "We don't look that far ahead," says Sid.

Gillman brought in Chuck Weber from the Boston Patriots to help revamp the defensive secondary that was the league's worst a year ago.

The Chargers also have realigned the defensive line in an attempt to stage a better pass rush. Veterans Steve de Long and Houston Ridge are at the ends, while 6-foot-7 Scott Billingsley and veteran Scott Appleton are the tackles.

The No. 1 rookie—6-foot-6, 305-pound Russ Washington—is contending for a starting tackle job.

Middle linebacker Chuck Allen, in his eighth season, anchors a group depleted by the retirement of John Baker and departure of Frank Buncom to Cincinnati. Rick Redman and Jeff Staggs serve as outside linebackers.

Cornerman Leslie Duncan and strong safety Ken Graham have returned, with sophomore pro Bobby Howard winning a corner job.

Rookies Jim Hill and Richard Farley and young pros Joe Beauchamp and Jim Tolbert are seeking the free safety position.

Offensively, the Chargers are loaded.

Veterans Paul Lowe and Gene Foster have been pushing Post and Hubbard for varsity status as running backs.

Quarterback John Hadl, a seven-year pro who threw 24 touchdown passes in 1967, returns to aim aerials at a classy corps of receivers—Lance Alworth, Garry Garrison and Willie Frazier.

The offensive line, dubbed the protectors last year because it helped keep Hadl's uniform clean, is led by All-Leaguers Ron Mix and Walt Sweeney.

New Javelin Entered in First Race

DENVER (AP)—American Motors Corp., which turned from Ramblers to racecars in quest of a new image—and profits—sends its Javelin racing team onto nearby Continental Divide Raceways Sunday, looking for the new car's first victory in Trans-American championship auto racing competition.

And George Vollmer, the Javelin driver who has often finished almost first but never has won, says he believes this might be the right weekend.

The Javelin already has done surprisingly well in its first year of competition. The American Motors entry finished fifth in class at the 12-hour race in Sebring, Fla., March 23.

In eight races since then, Javelins have always crossed the finish line, with five second-place finishes, two thirds and one fourth. Three of the seconds were recorded by Vollmer, 34, who drove a Camaro part of last year and a Lotus-Porsche before that.

Allen Powers Phils Past Cardinals

By MIKE BRYSON

Associated Press Sports Writer
Controversial Rich Allen says he would like to be traded—but he sure isn't behaving like a man who is unhappy with his present job.

For the fifth time this season, the feisty outfielder slammed two homers in one game, powering Philadelphia past St. Louis' National League leaders 7-3 Thursday night.

Rich made his statement about a possible trip to the trading block after drawing fire from Phils' owner Bob Carpenter following an alleged bar-room brawl.

Allen, who has been charged with assault and battery, said he thought the "best thing for me to do is to get out of town." Carpenter said that until Allen "grows up" he is likely to become involved in more incidents, adding that he would prefer to have Allen do his growing up in a Phils' uniform, but "anybody's dealable."

In the only other National League game, Cincinnati came from behind to edge Pittsburgh 7-5 and Dick Dietz singled in a pair of runs with two out in the ninth to give San Francisco a 3-1 victory over Los Angeles.

Minnesota stopped New York 3-1, Cleveland halted Boston 3-1, Detroit nipped Chicago 4-2 and Oakland slipped past California 2-1 in the American League.

Washington and Baltimore were not scheduled.

Allen, whose feud with Gene Mauch earlier this season was blamed for Mauch's ouster as Philadelphia manager, smacked his first homer in the third, a solo blast, in helping his team to a 4-2 lead. He followed with 127th of the season in the eighth after Roberto Pena singled.

St. Louis grabbed an early 2-1 lead off winner Chris Short, 13-11, but the Phils retaliated with two runs in the second.

He went the distance, scattering 10 hits. "The thing that really helped me was my control," said Short. "I made only three or four pitches where I didn't want them."

Dietz' winning hit stopped a dandy pitching battle between the Giants' Gaylord Perry, 12-11, and Los Angeles' Don Sutton, 5-13.

Sutton retired the first 13 batters he faced before issuing a fifth-inning walk to Jim Hart, who scored on singles by Dietz and Jesus Alou.

Sutton finished with a four-hitter, while Perry, touched for a run in the fifth on Tom Haller's single, scattered nine hits.

The Giants loaded the bases on two walks and a fielder's choice before Dietz' heroics.

Tony Perez tripled in two runs and then scored himself on Johnny Bench's sacrifice fly to spark Cincinnati's come-from-behind rally in the seventh.

The Pirates had taken a 2-0 lead in the first and increased it to 4-0 in the second on a two-run double by Matty Alou.

Pete Rose's two-run double highlighted a four-run Reds' outburst in the bottom of the second, but Pittsburgh regained the lead in the sixth on Fred Patek's RBI single.

Carol Mann Enjoying Greatest Year

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Carol Mann, enjoying her greatest year on the professional circuit, shoots for the $10,000 jackpot and added prestige this weekend in the third annual Ladies World Series of Golf.

The towering 27-year-old Townsend, Md., blonde is a slight favorite to take the series over previous winners Mickey Wright and Kathy Whitworth.

Miss Mann, a 6-foot-3 mod swinger with a bubbling personality, came close to capturing the two-day, 36-hole event last year but lost on the first hole of a sudden death playoff to Miss Whitworth.

Both finished behind Miss Wright when the veteran women's pro won the first World Series in 1966.

This terrific trio may get some spirited competition from Sandra Haynie, who has played in the two previous series, and first-time entries Susie Maxwell Bering and Sandra Post.

Mrs. Bering earned a spot in the six-woman field by winning the U.S. Open, Miss Post, a cutesy Canadian, got her invitation by copping the LPGA.

Miss Whitworth qualified as defending champion; Miss Mann as the women's leading money-winner and Miss Haynie and Miss Wright on the basis of their third and fourth place standings on the money list.

Tigers Win to Increase League Lead

By BEN OLAN

Associated Press Sports Writer
The Detroit Tigers are really in there fighting to win their first American League pennant in 23 years, and they're using both short and long distance blows to good advantage.

Al Klaine and Willie Horton provided the power with consecutive home runs and Dick McAuliffe helped with effective infighting Thursday night when the Tigers defeated the Chicago White Sox 4-2. The triumph increased Detroit's first-place lead over idle Baltimore to 7 1/2 games.

In other games, Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees whacked his 534th career homer, tying him for third place with Jimmy Fox on the all-time list, as the Yanks dropped a 3-1 decision to Minnesota. Cleveland downed Boston 3-1 and Oakland edged California 2-1 on Dick Green's ninth-inning homer. Baltimore and Washington were not scheduled.

In the National League, Philadelphia beat St. Louis 7-3, Cincinnati trimmed Pittsburgh 7-5 and San Francisco defeated Los Angeles 3-1 in the only games scheduled.

McAuliffe's most valuable contribution to the Tigers' cause came during a third-inning skirmish with left-hander Tommy John, Chicago's starting pitcher. The incident resulted in the ejection of both players and a shoulder injury that may sideline John for three weeks.

Three innings after John's departure, Klaine and Horton tagged his successor, ex-Tiger Dennis Ribant, for their solo homers as Detroit overcame a 2-1 deficit.

The skirmish developed when McAuliffe fell to the ground after ducking a 3-2 pitch. The Tigers' second baseman charged toward John halfway between the plate and first base after an exchange of words.

"Anyone who thinks I'm going to throw at them on a 3-2 pitch leading 1-0 in this ball park must be stupid," said John later, emphasizing Tiger Stadium's reputation as haven for home run hitters.

McAuliffe, who is 5-foot-11, slammed into the 6-foot-3 pitcher with his body as players from both dugouts ran onto the field. McAuliffe and John grappled briefly on the ground, but the fight was quickly broken up and there were no additional incidents.

"His knee jammed into my shoulder. I had pain shooting from my shoulder to my neck," John said.

"He threw three pitches close to my head. The White Sox have been throwing at us for two years. I don't want to be a gun-ear pig. A guy can be hurt for life," said McAuliffe, who was not injured in the brief brawl.

John, who has a 10-5 record, will be lost to the ninth-place White Sox for from 10 days to three weeks with torn ligaments in his left shoulder, the Tigers' team physician, Dr. Russell Wright, estimated.

Detroit had scored in the first on singles by McAuliffe, Klaine and Horton. The White Sox took the lead in the fourth on a two-run homer by Tommy Davis.

The Tigers' scored the game's final run in the seventh on a single by pitcher Mickey Lolich, 12-7, a passed ball and a single by Mickey Stanley.

Mantle struck his milestone homer as a pinch hitter in the ninth inning. It was one of only three hits yielded by Jim Merritt. The Twins got all the runs they needed off Fritz Peterson in the first on Cesar Tovar's double, a run-scoring single by Rich Reese, a sacrifice and Bob Allison's single.

"The one I really want," said Mantle, "is homer No. 535." He added that he didn't think he could ever reach 580 homers, the current total of San Francisco's Willie Mays, who is second on the career list. The late Babe Ruth leads with 714.

Stan Williams and Vicente Romo combined for a three-hit effort for the Indians. A throwing error by third baseman Joe Foy enabled two Cleveland runs to score in the third inning and another came home on Jose Cardenal's single. Jerry Adair accounted for the only Boston run with an eighth-inning homer.

Green's homer, his third of the season, broke up a pitching duel between Oakland's Jim Hunter, 10-11, and the Angels' Dennis Bennett, 0-1.

California grabbed a 1-0 lead in the sixth when Vic Davidillo singled in Jim Fregosi, who had singled with two out and moved to second on shortstop Bert Campaneris' throwing error.

But Oakland came back in the next inning when Green doubled, advanced to third on a sacrifice by Hunter and scored on a squeeze bunt by Campaneris.

BIGGER THAN LIFE, a statue of Stan Musial dwarts "the man" as he speaks during dedication ceremonies. The monument, a tribute to Musial's greatness on and off the baseball field, will be placed outside Busch Stadium in St. Louis, Mo.

Wysong Is Leading at Philadelphia

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—After

listening to Dudley Wysong list his troubles since he turned professional five years ago, the question appeared to be not would he hold his first-round lead in the $100,000 Philadelphia Golf Classic but would he finish.

Wysong's history is loaded with major ailments that have kept him from realizing his full potential on the tour. He's suffered a whiplash injury, at one time was in traction with a bad back and also damaged the ulnar nerve in his right hand.

If it wasn't for his seven-under-par 65 Thursday in the opening round of the "72-hole" Philadelphia tournament, you might be tempted to take up a collection to help pay Wysong's medical insurance.

Talking about his hand injury, he said, "I couldn't even lift a glass of water."

The one thing he could lift in Thursday's round was a putter. Wysong splattered his wood and iron shots all over the tight, 6,708-yard Whittemarsh Valley Country Club course. But once he reached the greens, it was all over except for picking the ball out of the cup.

Wysong had a round of seven birdies, rolling in putts of four, two, 12, four, 11, eight and 25 feet. Several long putts saved pars for the 29-year-old native of McKinney, Tex. All he could say in explaining how an average putter turned tigerish on the green was, "I had the feel, and when you feel you're going to make a putt, nine times out of 10 you do."

Wysong led 44-year-old Al Balding of California and 20-year-old Bobby Cole of South Africa by two strokes as the field of 156 started the day's second round today.

Balding, who has been recovering from a shoulder operation, shot 33-34—67 while Cole, 1967 British Amateur champion who joined the tour last year, scored a 34-33—67.

Another stroke back at 68 was a group headed by Billy Casper, the tour's top money-winner. Casper shot 33-35—68 and was one of 57 to shatter par on the usually tough Whittemarsh layout.

Deadlocked with Casper were Bobby Nichols, 33-35; Billy Maxwell, 34-34; Ray Brewer, 34-34; rookie Jerry Abbott, 35-33; 53-year-old Jim Ferrier, 35-33; Charlie Sifford, 35-33, and Bob Stanton, 37-31.

Lee Trevino, U.S. Open champion, fired a 33-36—69 and was one of nine at three-under-par. This group included England's Tony Jacklin, Dave Stockton, rookie star Bob Lunn and Bob Murphy, the first year hotshot who came within a stroke of tying last week's Westchester Classic.

Among the other big names, defending champion Dan Sikes had a 34-37—71, PGA king Julius Boros, winner at Westchester, had a 39-35—74, Jack Nicklaus, 37-36—73, Tom Weiskopf, No. 3 money-winner, 38-35—73, and George Archer, 38-36—74.

Next lining when Green doubled, advanced to third on a sacrifice by Hunter and scored on a squeeze bunt by Campaneris.

Picks Texas to Win, Hogs in 3rd Spot

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—The University of Texas Longhorns were tagged with the Southwest Conference football favorites role Friday by newsmen participating in the annual TCU Sports News Poll—but the honor could be a dubious one.

Only six times in the 35-year history of the poll has the "August champion" wound up with the title in December.

Sixty-six of the 122 sports writers and sportscasters taking part in the poll figured vaunted quarterback Bill Bradley and fancy-stepping back Chris Gilbert will be too much even for defending champion Texas A&M, which was forecast

Finals Likely to Be All Americans

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer
BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — An all-United States men's singles final appeared a sure bet today in America's bid to regain the national amateur tennis championship after 12 years of frustration.

U.S. Davis Cup stars Arthur Ashe and Clark Graebner packed the biggest wallop, but unseeded Bob Lutz of Los Angeles and Jim McManus of Berkeley, Calif., refused to be counted out entering the eighth day of the 88th national championships at Longwood.

Ashe, an Army lieutenant, topped seeded on the basis of his brilliant Davis Cup play this year, was favored to defeat Alan Stone, 22, Australia's fifth-ranked player, in a quarter-final match today.

A victory by Ashe would result in an all-American semifinal round, sending him against McManus. Lutz was set to test the second-seeded Graebner in a semifinal about the same time as the Ashe-Stone match.

There has not been an all-U.S. final since Tony Trabert defeated Vic Seixas in 1953. Trabert repeated as champion two years later, but since then Australia has captured the title 10 times and Mexico and Spain once each.

Ashe, Graebner and McManus posted straight set victories in advancing Thursday and Lutz, a Southern California student who will be 21 next Thursday, pulled his second major upset with 24 hours.

Lutz, noted more as a doubles player, followed his upset of American star Cliff Richey by ousting South Africa's Bob Hewitt, the top-seeded foreign player, 9-7, 1-6, 6-3, 6-2.

In women's singles, Maria Bueno, 28, of Brazil, bidding for a fifth U.S. title, marked time after moving into the final round with a 4-6, 7-5, 6-2 victory over England's Virginia Wade.

Miss Bueno, who has won 546 championships in her career, will meet the winner of today's semifinal between Margaret Smith Court of Australia and unheralded Cecilia Martinez of San Francisco.

Mrs. Court, the top-seeded foreign woman who was upset by Miss Bueno in the Essex Invitational last Sunday, advanced with a 1-6, 6-2, 6-2, victory over Vicky Rogers of Rye, N.Y., while unseeded Miss Martinez ousted Linda Tuero of Metairie, La., 6-2, 8-6 in their quarter-final.

LR Eliminated From Meet

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Little Rock, Ark., was eliminated from the National Baseball Congress tournament here Wednesday.

The Arkansas team rallied for three runs in the eighth inning, but the rally fell short as Eugene, Calif., took a 4-3 victory.

Home runs by Gary Sanserino and Dane Long paced California past Arkansas.

Richmond, Jap Teams Advance

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — Richmond, Va., scored an 8-5 victory over Sherbrooke-Lennoxville, Que., and Wakayama, Japan, beat Santa Ana, Calif., 3-0 in semifinals of the Little League World Series Thursday.

Three of those runs came on a long home run to center field by shortstop Chuck Goggin.

It looked like Albuquerque was heading for another defeat as Arkansas moved to a 4-0 lead in two innings. But the Dodgers quickly got to Joe DiMaggio in the third setting the stage for Goggin's homer with two singles, a walk and double.

Memphis' doubleheader at El Paso was postponed by wet grounds. Dallas-Fort Worth defeated San Antonio 4-0 and Shreveport beat Amarillo 10-6 in other Texas League action.

Shreveport's victory cut the Travs lead in the Eastern Division to two games. The Braves and the Travs open an important series tonight at Little Rock.

DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Q—What is the cause of infectious mononucleosis? How contagious is it? How does it affect a person? Does it cause hepatitis? What is the best treatment?

A—This disease is caused by a virus. It is spread by close contact, as in kissing, but it is not as contagious as the common cold since widespread epidemics are rare. It starts with a loss of appetite, vague pains, fever and swelling in the lymph nodes, especially in the neck. There may also be some sore throat.

Some inflammation of the liver (hepatitis) is usually present. Drugs of the cortisone group may shorten the course of the disease if given early enough. There is no specific treatment.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Boston has long been known as "the Hub." The World Almanac says. The expression was coined by Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes in his "Autocrat of the Breakfast Table," 1857, where he wrote "Boston Statehouse is the hub of the solar system." Boston's monopoly of American cultural life reached its zenith in the decades before and after the Civil War.

cific treatment.

Q—Does infectious mononucleosis come on a person long before he realizes it? How long does it last? Does it leave any permanent damage? Does it come back?

A—This disease usually does not develop until four to seven weeks after exposure. The onset is gradual rather than sudden. After an acute stage that may last two to four weeks, convalescence is slow. Recovery is the rule but such complications as pneumonia and paralysis of the respiratory muscles may occur. Relapses occur in about 6 per cent of cases.

Q—I have been taking the following drugs for my nerves: Dianabol, Thorazine, propylthiouracil, Valium, Avenyl, Mellaril and Pertofrane. I have not improved and am very discouraged. What do you advise?

A—Usually, when a thorough examination fails to reveal anything physically wrong, one's symptoms, although very real, are caused by deep-seated emotional problems. The drugs listed run the gamut from tranquilizers and thyroid suppressants to psychic energizers. If reassurance that you have no serious organic disease doesn't help you, you should find a specialist in nervous disease who will take the time to listen to your problems. Then you should confide in him completely.

QUICK QUIZ

Q-In baseball parlance, what position is called the "hot corner"?
A-Third base. The term was coined by R. Mulford, a writer of the 1880s, who watched a game in which Cincinnati third baseman Hick Carpenter fielded several sharply hit balls in his direction.

Q-What is the shape of the orbits of a pair of stars?
A-The shape of the orbit of any celestial body is an ellipse.

The CHURCH points the way to GOD and RICHER, FULLER LIVING

Be Strong in the FAITH and Regular in ATTENDANCE at your CHURCH

Somebody's Track

— was it yours? Did you know that your footprint identifies you almost as well as your fingerprint. The law uses it to trap the lawless. God uses it to show you where you were when you became conscience smitten. Your tracks tell on you... they give you away. You were where you should not have been and your tracks prove it. Your son was following your tracks when he got into serious trouble. Mr., you write either a good story or a bad one by the tracks you make. Why not resolve to walk toward the church next Sunday... any church... for they are all better than you. Every church in this community offers you a place to work, an opportunity to help others, and the privilege to make tracks for God. Then why not turn your tracks into a testimonial for the Lord, to be read of men, by printing them on the way that leads to church every Sunday.

Sign Critical of Humphrey
LOS ANGELES (AP) - A sign criticizing Vice President
Hubert H. Humphrey by California's Dissenting Democrats, Inc., won't be put up outside the Democratic National Convention in Chicago after all.
The Californians were given back their $1,260 by the bilboard company in an out-of-court settlement Wednesday.
The group wanted to post a sign off Chicago's Dan Ryan Expressway saying, "Millions of Democrats don't want Humphrey. Who will elect him president? This message sponsored by Dissenting Democrats."

When Foster and Kleiser
Corp., the billboard company, said it could not put up the sign because the space was taken up, the Dissenting Democrats brought suit for $125,000 damages in Los Angeles Superior Court.
The settlement was reached in the chambers of Superior Judge Robert W. Kenny.

U.S. Agents Figured the Invasion

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson and other top U.S. officials were alerted to the probability of a Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia about three weeks before Russian troops crossed Czech frontiers, administration officials said today.

A secret paper was given to the President and circulated among some 30 high officials early in August saying such a Soviet-led move was probable, the administration sources said.

They also declared that as late as Tuesday, the day of the invasion, Johnson and other senior officials were notified at their weekly strategy luncheon by intelligence experts that Soviet military intervention was probable.

This was based on the experts' knowledge that the Soviet leadership itself also was meeting Tuesday on the Czech situation.

The claims of forewarning clashed with a previous statement by a high State Department official that "we were surprised" by the invasion.

They also ran counter to information from Pentagon sources that, while an invasion was foreseen as a possibility, there was no intelligence forecast that it was likely to happen.

The Pentagon sources also said the U.S. government was surprised.

Other administration officials said that Charles Bohlen, a leading expert on Russia, and other advisers told Johnson it should be assumed there would be some sort of military move against the Czechs.

These sources said that at the Tuesday lunch, only hours before the invasion, there was a vigorous discussion among Johnson, Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford and others about the possibility of a Russian move.

"They discussed not only the possibility but even the probability, there might be an invasion," an official said. "The consensus was there might be a move against the Czechs."

It was felt, the officials said, by those at the White House luncheon that Russia probably would have to throttle the liberal Czech regime.

There is no disagreement that the first word the U.S. government received about the invasion came from Russian Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin in a face-to-face meeting with Johnson Tuesday night about three hours after the incursions started.

There also is no dispute that the first information received through official U.S. information gathering channels came about an hour after the start of the Johnson-Dobrynin meeting when monitoring stations intercepted a Radio Prague broadcast.

Administration officials, obviously anxious to shield U.S. intelligence from charges of failure, said the intelligence men were "pretty sharp in calling the shots." They contended that the Soviet leadership did not decide itself until the day of the Moscow meeting, whether it would send Russian and satellite troops into Czechoslovakia to suppress the liberalization movement.

The administration people acknowledged this conclusion was based on deduction rather than any direct information from agents or other sources.

The administration officials said that on Aug. 12, intelligence began "to put out the flags that things were heating up again."

May Never Push Another Button

DETROIT (AP) — This may be a push button age, but the person who recently stole the minibike of fireman Larry Scarpace may soon decide never to push another button again, let alone steal again.

Scarpace, a clown in fire department parades for 21 years, had the 24-inch bike rigged with a variety of gags, including a booby-trapped horn. When the horn is pressed, the front end of the bike falls apart.

Montgomery Picked for Soph of Year

CHICAGO (AP) — The September issue of Playboy magazine picks University of Arkansas quarterback Bill Montgomery as the nation's "Sophomore Back of the Year."

The magazine, in an article by Anson Mount, says the Razorbacks will finish third in the Southwest Conference with a 7-3 mark. Mount says Texas A&M will defeat the University of Texas on Thanksgiving Day for the SWC title.

"Arkansas should be the chart climber in the Southwest Conference," says Mount. He says the arrival of Montgomery "will give the Porkers needed offensive stability."

CZECHOSLOVAKIA

Out of the chaos of war and the collapse of empire, a new nation is born in 1918. Thomas Masaryk, father of his country and first president, declares the independence of Czechs and Slovaks after centuries of Austrian domination. The place: Independence Hall in Philadelphia, symbolizing a continuing American interest in the progressive, democratic little country that for two decades is a bright spot on the map of Europe.

Munich, 1938. Britain's Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and France's Premier Edouard Daladier meet with Hitler and Mussolini to buy "peace in our time" at the expense of Czechoslovakia—a betrayal that only hastens the world toward a new war.

Three faces of a tragedy—Eduard Benes, Klement Gottwald, Jan Masaryk. Rebirth in freedom after the Nazi defeat is all too brief. Caught in a power play, President Benes turns over power to Communist leader Gottwald in 1948. The Iron Curtain closes down, NATO is formed to block further Communist expansion and the Cold War is under way in earnest. Foreign Minister Masaryk, son of Thomas, refuses to resign and his sudden death is still a mystery—murder or suicide?

Victory apparently in his grasp, Alexander Dubcek jubilantly reports to the nation after showdown sessions in July that the Soviets will tolerate a liberal but still Communist Czechoslovakia. Soviet tanks withdraw—only to return in August to crush the dream of freedom.

Czech Crisis Dims Hope for Pueblo Crew

any chances of an early release.

The outlook for release of the Americans already was dimmed because of hard-line demands by the North Koreans for a formal U.S. apology for the Pueblo action in allegedly infringing on their territorial waters.

Diplomats here said the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia and the resultant strain on East-West relations hardly made it likely for a quick agreement on the Pueblo.

Pro-Moscow Premier Kim Il-Sung of North Korea, who praised the Soviet intervention of Czechoslovakia, has threatened repeatedly to try the Pueblo crew for spying, but he has set no date.

South Korea's ambassador to Washington, Kim Dong-Jo, predicted that the Soviet use of force to crush Czech liberalism would have the effect of stiffening Kim and his military-minded cabinet beyond their present

"As long as Kim Il-Sung is retained in power there is no hope to liberalize the North Korean regime nor gain the release of the Pueblo and its crew," Kim said in an interview.

Winthrop Brown, acting asstant secretary of state, the head of a special U.S. task force on the Pueblo at the State Department, refused to comment on U.S. efforts to obtain the help of Moscow in releasing the men but he conceded the situation is frustrating.

"We believe and hope that patient discussion and negotiation eventually will secure their release," Brown said.

As for a U.S. apology, the United States remains prepared to have the case examined by an impartial international body,

Sweet Home Entertains Hope Trade Delegation

A city is no bigger or better than its trade territory, and the No. 1 rule for both town and country is to keep communication lines open between the two.

The community newspaper is just one of those links. For years Pod Rogers, our circulation manager, has been rapping on doors in remote sections of Hempstead and Nevada counties. Another link is the community radio station. But neither of these is enough.

The conventional communication line between town and country is a package of news accompanied by a townsman's offer to sell something to the country. That's how it is, but really good community relations mean something more.

The most binding link between town and country is personal acquaintance. Farmers come to town periodically, but townspeople who forget to repay the courtesy by journeying out to the farm risk a break in sound community relationship.

Hope Chamber of Commerce has scheduled for some years what is known as trade development community tours. Your editor made them regularly along with other Hope citizens until he got involved with the installation of the new offset printing plant in 1966 and 1967. But that's finished, and we went along Thursday night when the fall schedule opened with a visit to Sweet Home.

It was encouraging to note that 100 from Hope turned out for the excursion — a caravan of more than 20 cars.

And we were entertained with as fine a home-cooked meal as we've ever eaten — a superfluous comment when applied to country fried chicken.

Sweet Home is 20 miles from here, but just as much a part of the Hope area community as City Ward One. Their hospitality made you feel this way.

It's a good feeling — guaranteed to make you want to make all the community visits on our 1968 schedule.

Highway Bill Threatened by Deadline

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson faces a Friday midnight deadline for action on the pending $21 billion, six-year extension on the national highway program, including expenditures for the interstate expressway system.

There was no indication from the White House as to what action the President plans.

With Congress not in session, inaction by the President to act would constitute a pocket veto and the measure would not become a law.

Johnson also could veto the bill outright, or sign it.

In the past Johnson has waited until close to the deadline to sign numerous major bills.

One item in the measure is a directive to the District of Columbia to build some freeway segments which city officials do not want. They hope for a veto.

Would Narrow Society Gap

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Singer Sonny Bono wants a plank in the Democratic platform that will help narrow the generation gap — avert "a dual society."

As he flew off to Chicago to confer with a platform subcommittee, Bono, 28, said he wants a 100-member commission set up in which no member is older than 26.

"If something isn't done to get the establishment and younger people talking together again, this society may be destroyed before another four years or eight years," he told newsmen.

Bono's partner in the musical team Sonny and Cher, his wife, is expecting a baby and stayed at home.

Eisenhower's Condition Is Stable

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army doctors reported today there is "encouraging" evidence in former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's status but that his overall condition "must still be considered critical and the outlook guarded."

WASHINGTON (AP) — One week after suffering his fourth major heart attack since April, former President Dwight D. Eisenhower remains in critical condition but has had no heart rhythm problems in more than a day.

In their latest bulletin on the five-star general's condition, doctors at Walter Reed Army Hospital said Thursday night: "Gen. Eisenhower's condition today has remained stable. He is resting comfortably and there has been no major heart rhythm disturbance in the past 24 hours."

In earlier bulletins, the doctors said the 77-year-old Eisenhower was in critical condition. By stating Thursday night the condition was stable, they indicated he remained critically ill.

The Thursday night bulletin followed an earlier statement at noon that Eisenhower "continued to show increased evidence of cardiac irritability."

There was no explanation in the Thursday night statement to explain when the latest irritability, described as a weakening of the nerves that stimulate the heart muscles, had taken place. But presumably it had occurred Wednesday.

In the week since suffering the attack, his seventh since 1955, Eisenhower has been described by his doctors as continually in critical condition, and generally afflicted by spasms or irregularity of his heart beat.

Answering written questions, the doctors also said Thursday that Eisenhower is not under sedation and there has been no swelling because of a collection of fluids in the tissues, something that often happens in heart cases.

Eisenhower is alert and without pain, his doctors say, and is visited regularly by his wife Mamie and other close members of his family.

They said his discussions with visitors are limited to matters of family interest.

The FCC also announced approval of the application of Little Rock station KOKY for assignment of license to Midwest Broadcasting Corp., for $169,000.

Ky. Colonel Parlays First Social Security Check Into $2 Million

NEW YORK (AP) — "I've never had a golf club in my hands, and if I keep my senses I never will," said the old man in the white suit and the black string tie.

His ruddy cheeks flushed, his fine white mustache and trim white goatee vibrated as he stamped his black silver handed cane to the floor and added:

Soviet Generals Seem to Have Upper Hand in Russian Politics

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Something seems to be wrong with the Soviet Union's "collective leadership."

Against the background of several years of political maneuvering in Moscow, the invasion of Czechoslovakia suggests a struggle at the top of the Kremlin power structure, with generals and marshals playing an active and possibly decisive role.

The Soviet power structure, by its nature, has seemed a built-in barrier to any real detente in the East-West cold war. And now, Soviet press treatment of the Czechoslovak tragedy supports speculation that the marshals and generals have a big say in running the show, a situation which bodes no good for civilian leaders who arouse their hostility.

Since Stalin's death the military has occupied a more and more prominent role in Soviet politics. Politicians contending for power often had to lean on the generals for support, as Nikita S. Khrushchev did when he threw his foes out of the party and as the new group under Leonid I. Brezhnev did when it threw out Khrushchev.

The Soviet party always has been careful to assert publicly and frequently its domination over the military. But in time of crisis the military can hold the balance of power. The civilian with powerful alliances among the generals increases his chance of success.

Clearly, the invasion of Czechoslovakia was a military decision, and almost as clearly, there was a quarrel about it in the Kremlin involving three factions: those who wanted to go slowly and cautiously, those who wanted to move swiftly to crush the Czechoslovak movement, and those on the fence. It appears the balance tilted toward the generals carried the day.

Pravda, voice of the Kremlin, complains that "there have been certain attempts to deal a blow at the Warsaw treaty" in Czechoslovakia. It thunders that "no breach in the Warsaw treaty must be allowed."

Then it adds: "Czechoslovak frontiers on the west were actually open from the Czechoslovak side. This created a situation in which saboteurs and spies smuggled by imperialist intelligence services began crossing freely into Czechoslovakia from Western countries."

One man who thinks much about "imperialist intelligence services" is Gen. Sergei M. Shtemenko, author of a recent book praising Stalin. He once was deputy defense minister and in charge of military intelligence. His fortunes fell with Stalin's death and he was demoted several ranks. Suddenly he rose again, and in 1965 showed up as deputy chief of the Soviet general staff.

At the height of the Czechoslovak crisis this month, Shtemenko was named chief of staff of the Warsaw forces. It may have been that his predecessor, Gen. M. I. Kazakov, was fired by the Politburo as a scapegoat for their unpleasant backdown from their demands on the reform-minded Czechoslovak leaders.

Kazakov was known as a hawk who likely would have been pushed to have Marshal Ivan Yakubovskiy, the pact commander, crush the whole Czechoslovak nuisance at the outset.

The wide spread attacks marked the sixth straight day of savage fighting and followed on the heels of similar assaults around Saigon, near the Cambodian border and south in the Mekong Delta. The enemy slammed hundreds of rounds of rockets and mortars into cities, towns and installations from the Mekong Delta to the demilitarized zone.

A U.S. spokesman said the attacks exceeded those that triggered a second enemy offensive last May but that the latest assaults "are not as intense."

President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam announced that he will make a nationwide

No Relief in Sight From Weather

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
No relief from the hot and humid weather is in sight for Arkansas through the weekend.

A high pressure system that remains stationary over the southern portion of the nation continues to dictate the state's weather conditions.

Widely scattered occasional showers are still in the forecast. The only rainfall recorded in the 24-hour period had ended at 7:30 a.m. today was 0.02 inches at Fort Smith and 0.13 at Harrison.

Low temperatures reported around the state this morning ranged from 71 at Fayetteville, Harrison and El Dorado to 77 at Blytheville.

Soviet Veto Blocks UN Action

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
Associated Press Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.

(AP) — A Soviet veto today killed an eight-nation resolution that asked the U.N. Security Council to condemn the Soviet-bloc occupation of Czechoslovakia and to call for the troops to withdraw.

The vote was 10-2 with 3 abstentions. The Soviet Union and Hungary voted no. Algeria, India and Pakistan abstained.

Soviet Ambassador Jacob A. Malik vetoed the proposal at 3:28 a.m. after he and Hungarian, Bulgarian and Polish delegates had filibustered past midnight to delay the voting.

U.S. Ambassador George W. Ball said the Soviet Union had just cast its 10th veto. But he declared that it could not "suffocate the soul of a proud people" in Czechoslovakia.

Canadian Ambassador George Ignatieff then introduced a new resolution requesting Secretary-General U Thant to "dispatch immediately to Prague a special representative who shall seek the release and ensure the personal safety of the Czechoslovak leaders under detention" and report back urgently.

At 3:54 a.m. the council president for the month, Brazilian Ambassador Joao Augusto de Araujo Castro, adjourned the

Kosygin, LBJ Secret Talks Derailed

By FRANK CORMIER
and
LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secret plans by President Johnson for summit talks with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, possibly in Moscow, have been derailed by the Kremlin crack-down on Czechoslovakia.

Until the invasion of Czechoslovakia, Johnson had expected to hold a return talk with Kosygin overseas about missile curbs and other East-West issues.

Johnson long had hoped to visit the Soviet Union before leaving office. And more recently, he felt that agreed-upon talks between the two superpowers about limiting their nuclear missile and antimissile rivalry furthered the potential of such a trip.

The President's desire for a repeat summit to last year's New Jersey's meeting was underscored by the fact that—even after Soviet forces rolled into Prague—administration spokesmen pointedly refused to rule out a Johnson visit to Russia this fall.

White House Press Secretary George Christian said that despite the Czech crisis Johnson

Reports Say Red Leader Dubcek Dead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Several amateur radio operators in Europe and the United States report receiving ham broadcasts from Czechoslovakia saying that Communist party leader Alexander Dubcek is dead.

There was no immediate official confirmation of the reports received Thursday. The Czechoslovak clandestine radio in Prague last said Dubcek was seized Wednesday and taken to an unknown destination.

A State Department source in Washington said U.S. government listening posts had apparently heard the same ham broadcasts the others reported but had no further details on it.

One of the amateurs who reported the broadcast was Frank Melville, of Elmford, N.Y., a ham operator for more than 40 years. He said he sent a general call trying to make contact with anyone in Europe.

In response he received several replies, one of which ended with the words, "... was killed two hours ago." He said he asked for a repeat and received, "Dubcek was killed two hours ago."

Melville said he then asked the sender, who gave his call letters as OKIAY, "What do you want me to do with it?" and the reply was, "Please relay." He said the entire exchange was in Morse code.

Students With Autos Have to Cooperate

James H. Jones, Superintendent of Schools, announced today that all parents who allow students to drive a car to school are expected to cooperate with the school in seeing that traffic regulations are obeyed. This means on school premises and off during the hours of 8:00 a.m. to 3:45 p.m.

Violations of regulations will forfeit the right of a student to bring a car to school for an indefinite period. And then the student will not be permitted to leave the grounds. This could be for a semester or for the year. We hope that your son or daughter will not be guilty of a violation. The major violation is exceeding the speed limit, especially during the noon hour, and immediately after school.

Parking is a problem around schools and we ask that students who reside within a six block radius to leave your car at home.

Soviet Plane Crash Is Reported

VIENNA (AP) — The Czechoslovak radio reported today that a Soviet transport plane crashed during the night at the city of Budejovice and "there were many dead and injured" among the Soviets on it.

The wounded were taken to a Czechoslovak hospital and the doctors there were administering blood transfusions, the broadcast added. Shortly thereafter, Soviet soldiers reported to the hospital to donate blood.

The broadcast had no other details.

The delegates re-elected Alexander Dubcek—the man who ended 20 years of Stalinist-type rule in Czechoslovakia last January—as their leader.

They named Vasek Silhan, an economist, to head the party while Dubcek and other top leaders are Soviet captives.

Broadcasts heard abroad—apparently from amateur operators within Czechoslovakia—reported Dubcek was dead. There
